

Everyday Wine List 1st February 2026

The best wines share a common thread, what we like to call “terroir,” it is a word that embraces the complete natural environment in which a particular wine is produced, including factors such as the soil, site, and climate. Whether it is Malbec from the high-altitude Uco Valley in Argentina, a Nebbiolo from the beautiful hillsides of Piemonte in Italy, or a Pinot Noir from the limestone and clay soils of Burgundy what is in the glass should speak of its origins. If a wine does not have this sense of place, with a certain amount of character or honesty then it is, to my mind, rather pointless to consume as it will be, inevitably, dull and will add nothing to the experience of either drinking or eating.

The Government continues to attack the wine trade, duty taxes have increased again and a new “recycling tax” has been introduced; in spite of this our hand-selected wines remain excellent value for money as they are chosen for their innate quality, rather than to fit a particular price bracket. Where possible I have tried to absorb as much of the duty rise as possible. It is worth noting too that once the consumer starts paying over £12 to £15 per bottle the better value the wine starts to become; a bottle of wine costing £8 or so will probably have less than 50 pence worth of wine in it; a £12 bottle will have nearer to £3 as the cost of the actual contents – a £20 bottle well over £6.50, so the more you spend on a bottle the better the value!

The wines are priced by the case but may be bought in 3s or 6s. Delivery within England is free for orders of twelve bottles or more over £200, otherwise £10 (delivery to other parts of the UK will be charged at cost). Delivery will be charged at £20 for all orders less than 12 bottles or at cost, whichever is the greater. All wines offered subject to remaining available. Do not hesitate to get in touch should you need more information or guidance when making your selection.

Quality beats quantity every time!
